Fourth edition of Ruscelli's Ptolemy, revised, enlarged, and edited by Rosaccio. Adams P2287. Alden 598/84. Armstrong, Ptolemy 41. JCB (1)I, p. 376. Phillips 409. Sabin 66507. Stevens, Ptolemy 56; Rare Americana 603: "The 69 double page copperplate maps are printed in the text and are mostly from the same plates as were used in the editions of 1561, 1562, 1564, and 1574, but the plates have been re-touched and figures of ships, fishes, etc. introduced, and some new place names added." Includes 7 maps of the Americas: America; Tierra Nueva (this edition is the first in which the word "Virginia" appears on the map); Nueva Hispania; Tierra Nova; Brasil; Isola Spagnola Nova; and Isola Cuba Nova. The text on leaves 125-40 relates to these maps. An excellent and important edition of the geography which summed up man's knowledge of the world, both old and new, for the 16th century. $3,750.00

11. [ATLAS]. WIT, Frederick de. Atlas containing 51 double-page engraved maps with beautiful contemporary hand-coloring, preceded by Wit's allegorical frontispiece of Atlas carrying the heavens. Each map measures approximately 22 x 25 inches. Amsterdam, ca. 1670. Large folio, original full gilt stamped vellum. Binding a bit scuffed and stained, occasional age-staining (mainly confined to blank margins, especially title and first few leaves), overall fine, with particularly high-quality color application.

A very rare and early Wit atlas, all of the maps in the first state, without the Privilegium added to the plates in 1689. This copy corresponds in contents and imprint with Koeman, Wit 7, with some maps dated 1666 and the last map dated 1671. Bagrow-Skelton, p. 183: "[Wit's maps] are notable for their fine workmanship, beauty, and accuracy." Koeman, Wit 7, p. 191: "[Wit was] one of the most famous engravers of maps of the second half of the 17th century." Leighly 57 & 58. Nebenzahl 35:99: "The world map, showing California as an island with no Pacific Northwest or Alaska, the Great Lakes incomplete, and much of Australia lacking, is surrounded by magnificently engraved complex allegories combining the 4 seasons and signs of the zodiac. The beautiful baroque decoration is extended through the entire atlas. The maps of the 4 continents, flanked on 3 sides with panels depicting cities and natives, are of great rarity." Phillips, Atlases 499. Shirley 451 (plate 333): "Wit's [world] map is one of the most attractive of its time...The map appeared in atlases published by Wit and also in composite atlases by Visscher, Jansson's heirs, and others. In these various forms the map was reprinted many times." $20,000.00

12. AUSTIN, Mary. Land of Little Rain. Boston & New York: Houghton, Mifflin, 1903. xi [5] 280 [2] pp., pictorial title page, frontispiece, 3 plates, numerous marginal illustrations. Square 8vo, original olive pictorial cloth, t.e.g. Front hinge strengthened, a few light stains, overall very good.

First edition. Cowan, p. 24. Dykes, High Spots of Western Illustrating 32. Edwards, The Enduring Desert, p. 14: "Ranks among the all-time great books on California, and an acknowledged classic of the desert." Graff 114. Howes A400. Zamorano 80 1. A series of sketches of the desert area surrounding the Owens Valley and the approaches to Death Valley. The illustrations and marginal decorations by E. Boyd Smith vividly capture the atmosphere of desert life described in this classic. $200.00

13. AUSTIN, Mary. Lost Borders. New York & London: Harper, 1909. [12] 209 pp., plates. 12mo, original olive gilt pictorial cloth. Very good copy, front hinge strengthened.

First edition. Campbell, p. 244. Edwards, Desert Voices, p. 8: "A collection of 14 delightful tales of the First edition. Howes B93. Vol. 5 of the Papers of the Archaeological Institute of America. Bandelier's pioneering work on early Spanish expeditions into the far Southwest, especially Cabeza de Vaca, Niza, and the Villasur expedition of 1720. "Bandelier was truly the peer of the archaeological pioneers of the American Southwest. His studies are of importance not only to the archaeologist, but to the historical scholar as well, for his discoveries and deductions were all based upon profound historical research"--Mecham. $200.00

16. [BANGS, SAMUEL (printer)]. Con esta fecha se ha servido el REY dirigirme el decreto siguiente: Con arreglo al artículo 362 de la Constitución política de la Monarquía española debe haber en cada provincia Cuerpos de Milicias Nacionales... Monterrey, October 9, 1820. 10 pp., 8vo. Fine, signed and dated twice by Rafael González.

An important law, first issued by the King of Spain, followed by a Mexico City issue, and now this imprint from the headquarters of the Spanish government in the Eastern Interior Provinces of Mexico at Monterrey. The Reglamento Provisional para la Milicia nacional local en la Peninsula e Islas adyacentes establishes local militia units to deal with the general state of chaos caused by the independence movement and incursions by Pike, Long, and other Anglos. Samuel Bangs (Handbook of Texas I:106) accompanied the Mina expedition as printer and was imprisoned by Royalist

Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88)

Arredondo, who set Bangs to work printing while he was still a political prisoner. As a young man Bangs created the first imprints west of the Mississippi and the first imprints for Texas and 3 Northern Mexican states. Bangs Bibliography 19 (locates only this and one other copy). We have approximately 30 more Bangs imprints available for sale. List upon request. $750.00 study of Texas during the colonial period. Berlandier came to Mexico to collect botanical specimens for a group of Swiss naturalists, and to accompany Gen. Mier y Terán on his scientific expedition to Texas in 1828. Afterward, Berlandier settled in Matamoros and made several more explorations in Texas. During the period from his coming to Mexico in 1826 up through 1834, Berlandier kept diaries, wrote reports, collected specimens and artifacts, and drew pictures of what he saw. He was observant, careful, and intelligent, and he left us a record that is unmatched for his era in Texas." Graff 278: "Both Howes and Raines call for 2 maps which are not in the present copy. Copies with 2 maps have not been found and it is doubtful that they were issued." Howes B379. Palau 27991. Plains & Rockies IV:178a. Raines, p. 24. Streeter 781n. $900.00

20. BERLANDIER, J. L. Journey to Mexico, 1826-1834. Austin: Texas State Historical Association, 1980. xxxvi, 672 pp., 36 plates (mostly botanical, all but a few in color), illustrations, map. 2 vols. Limited edition (550 copies; first published 1960), new introduction by John Graves. Greene, The 50 Best Books on Texas, p. 86: "A great book...It contains the essential humor, the rawness, and earthy wisdom of an old, rural Texas society without sacrificing intelligence and historical accuracy. There have been only a handful of books that achieved this plateau. Goodbye to a River alerts the reader, from page one, to the fact that this is a masterly work, worthy of almost any literary comparison. I rank it the finest piece of Texas writing ever done."

54. [BORDERLANDS]. COMMITTEE ON INDIAN AFFAIRS. Depredations on the Texas Frontier... Washington: HRR 395 [1874]. 3 pp. 8vo, protective wrappers. Very fine.

55. [BORDERLANDS]. GRANT, U. S. Depredations on the Frontiers of Texas... Washington: HRED 39, 1873. 63 pp. 8vo, protective wrappers. Very fine.

First edition. Provides for the establishment of a commission to investigate "complaints of many depredations having been committed for several years past upon the frontiers of the State of Texas, by bands of Indians and Mexicans, who crossed the Rio Grande River into the State of Texas, murdering the inhabitants or carrying them into captivity, and destroying or carrying away the property of the citizens of said State." Extensive documentation and statistics on lawlessness on the Rio Grande frontier 1853-72, etc. $150.00

56. [BORDERLANDS]. GRANT, U. S. Depredations on the Frontiers of Texas... Washington: HRED 257, 1874. 32 pp. 8vo, protective wrappers. Very fine.

First edition. Report of the commission established in 1873 (see preceding item); the commissioners travelled along a route from Brownsville to Ringgold Barracks, Corpus Christi, Laredo, Eagle Pass, Fort Clark, Uvalde, and San Antonio. Depositions by Texas ranchers on cattle rustling and reports on depredations by Kickapoos, Lipans, Mescaleros, Pottawatomies, Seminoles, and others. The commissioners report an alleged aggregate loss of over 27 million dollars, of which only 6 million were deemed actual losses, the remainder being contingent losses. Among the recommendations offered are removal of the Kickapoos and strengthening of law enforcement. $150.00

57. [BORDERLANDS]. ORD, E. O. C. Texas Frontier Troubles. Testimony Taken Before the Committee on Foreign

Affairs... Washington, 1878. 173 [2] pp. 8vo, protective wrappers. Very fine.

First edition. An important government document continuing the ongoing investigation of the Texas Frontier Troubles (See Howes I32, I33, & T143). Detailed reports relating to revolutions on the border, necessity of maintaining a large force on the border, Indian depredations, cattle rustling in South Texas, etc. As might be expected, Ord blames Mexico for the unsettled state of the border, stating that "seven-eighths of the population of the tier of counties for 100 miles back from the Rio Grande is Mexican by birth, and the habits of these people are Mexican." $175.00

59. [BOURGEOIS, N.]. Voyages intéressans dans différentes colonies francaises, espagnoles, anglaises... London: Bastion, 1788. viii, 507 (last page wrongly numbered 407) pp. 12mo, original full mottled calf, spine extra gilt, raised bands. Binding worn (joints cracked, extremities chipped, edge wear), internally fine. Scarce.

First edition. Howes B651: "Contains information on Massachusetts, New York, Louisiana, New Mexico, Porto Rico, etc.; the author lived 30 years in America." Sabin 6897: "This work is taken from the papers of Bourgeois...by his nephew Nougaret. Richardiere says that 'the most interesting part of the work is that which relates to the islands of Porto Rico, Curaçao, Grenada, and the Bermudas, and to New Mexico; about which places it would be difficult to find such interesting and satisfactory details in any other work.' It [was probably] printed in France." Includes a vocabulary of the "Sauvages du Mississipi," diseases of Santo Domingo, François Tigée's journey to New Mexico (not in Wagner's Spanish Southwest), etc.$1,500.00

60. BOURKE, John G. Scatologic Rites of All Nations... Washington: Lowdermilk, 1891. 496 pp. 8vo, original brown cloth, bevelled edges, t.e.g. Several small bumps to edges of binding, else fine. Author's presentation copy.

Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88)

First edition. Lamar, Readers Encyclopedia of the American West, p. 117: "Bourke's historical work is vivid, observant, and humorous, and his ethnological studies remain invaluable to modern scholars." An important work--one of the main sources of available information on some of the more obscure rites of the native tribes of the Americas, including Snake Dances, the use of hallucinogenic agents in religious ceremonies, analyses of pantheistic religions and customs. An indispensable work of ethnological research. $425.00

61. BOURNE, Eulalia. Blue Colt. Flagstaff: Northland, 1979. [6] 103 pp., illustrations by Pam Fullerton. 8vo, original blue cloth. With blue paper portfolio containing 10 original signed and numbered two-color serigraphs. Very fine.

First edition, limited edition (#6 of 50 copies), signed by author. Novel of family life on a small ranch in southern Arizona. $125.00

62. [BRACERO MOVEMENT]. Secretaría de Relaciones Exteriores. La migración y protección de mexicanos en el extranjero. Labor de la Secretaría de Relaciones Exteriores en Estados Unidos de América y Guatemala. Mexico, 1928. 60 pp. 8vo, contemporary three-quarter maroon cloth over marbled boards. Very fine.

First edition. Cumberland, The U.S.-Mexican Border, p. 26: "Indicative of Mexico's concern for her nationals working in the U.S." Gives information on each of the consular offices for Mexican nationals, most of which were in Texas. $75.00

63. BRESSANI, F. Breve relatione d'alcvne missioni De'PP. della Compagnia di Giesù nella Nuoua Francia... Macerata: Heredi d'Agostino Grisei, 1653. iv, 127 [1] pp. Small 4to, recent morocco. Some slight worming and browning, overall good.

First edition. Ayer 32. Brinley 67. JCB I(2), p. 428. Church 524. Fumagalli 1070. Lande 57. McCoy 82. Sabin 7734. Thwaites 38:289(83).. TPL 44. Winsor 4:305. One of the rarest Jesuit relations of 17th century Canada, not issued in the regular Paris series but published in the author's native Italy. Bressani went to Canada in 1642, and after 2 years near Quebec became a missionary to the Huron, with whom he remained until 1650. During this period he was made a captive by the Iroquois and tortured severely before being ransomed by the Dutch; his later preaching in Italy evidently gained force through displaying of his mutilated hands. In addition to the account of his own captivity, Bressani relates the captivity of Father Jogues and the deaths of 7 other priests. Most of this book is devoted to the Huron mission, and is probably the best single account of that tribe. Bressani prepared an extraordinary map of the Huron country, of which only the copies in the Bibliothèque Nationale and the Public Archives of Canada survive. $9,000.00

64. BREVOORT, E. New Mexico. Her Natural Resources and Attractions...and Spanish and Mexican Land Grants. Santa Fe: Brevoort, 1874. 176 [4, ads] pp. 8vo, contemporary half black calf over marbled boards, raised bands on spine. Some edge wear and lower right corner of upper board creased, title lightly stained, overall very good.

First edition. Adams, Herd 318. Howes B751. Rader 471. Saunders 368. One of the earliest locally printed New Mexico histories and the definitive work of its period, based on information furnished by early settlers and the author's own observations during a residence of 24 years. $500.00

65. BROOKS, Elizabeth. Prominent Women of Texas. Akron: Werner [1896]. 206 pp., portraits. 8vo, original green gilt decorated cloth. Very fine.

First edition. Winegarten, p. 239. One of the earliest works on Texas women, with information on wives of Texas statesmen (Margaret Lea Houston, Mrs. Anson Jones); pioneers (Charlotte M. Allen, Rebecca M. Fisher, Mrs. Babb); artists (Elizabet Ney, Julia Sinks Robertson); authors (Augusta Evans Wilson, Amelia Barr, M. E. M. Davis; journalists; educators; physicians; actresses; "The Uncrowned Queen of the West"--Mrs. Richard King of the King Ranch; etc. Index. $250.00

66. [CALIFORNIA]. C., Mary A. Autograph letter signed. Woodland, California, August 30, 1865. 4 pp., 4to. Creased where formerly folded and a few stains, overall very good.

The writer emigrated from Urbana, sailing from New York, via Aspinwall and Acapulco, and finally reaching her "California home," in Yolo County, 18 miles from Sacramento. She describes the journey, including the fear experienced when they thought that they had sighted the Confederate ship "Alabama," and concludes with a brief description of settling in the Sacramento Valley. $150.00

67. [CALIFORNIA FICTION]. Allen Crane, the Gold Seeker. Troy, New York: Merriam, Moore & Co. [1850's]. 8, 8, 8 [34] pp., numerous woodcut illustrations. 16mo, original blue cloth. Somewhat worn and moderately foxed. Rare (NUC locates 4 copies, only one in California).

First edition. Moral tales for children, the first two dealing with a California gold-seeker. $250.00

68. [CALIFORNIA FICTION]. The Amulet: A Tale of Spanish California. London: Longmans, Green & Co., 1865. x, 273 [1] [2, ads] pp. 12mo, original green cloth. Binding a bit rubbed and top edge dusty, internally fine. Publisher's presentation copy, with blind embossed seal. (NUC lists 3 copies, the Bancroft copy being the only copy in California).

First edition. Cowan, p. 14. Sabin 1355. "The sketches of social life, of physical geography and scenery, as well as any notices of the vegetable or animal inhabitants of the country, are based on personal observation" (author's preface). Novel of ranch life set in southern California in 1852, dealing with the effects of the gold rush and political independence on the lives of ranchers. $400.00

69. [CALIFORNIA, NEVADA CITY]. Original manuscript petition requesting incorporation of Nevada City, California, signed by 219 pioneers. Nevada City, November 18, 1850. Two panels, each approximately 34-1/2 x 7-1/2 inches, with 4 sheets and 6 sheets respectively. Paper aged, stained, and corroded by ink in several places; text and some signatures faded, but still legible. Document professionally cleaned and repaired. Excellent condition for such a fragile and ephemeral item. With the inscription and signature of the Yuba County Clerk on the verso of sheet 5: "Petition of Nevada City for a city charter. Filed Nov. 18, 1850. E. D. Wheeler, Clerk."

This petition is one of only three surviving foundation documents of the state's foremost Gold Rush city, and is one of the only extant petitions for a municipal charter under California's first incorporation laws passed in 1850. By then, the settlement of Nevada, Yuba County, California, was a main stop on the overland trail and a primary destination for the pioneers voyaging around the Horn to California and the gold fields. In October and/or November of 1850, the town inhabitants--beleaguered by the "daily increase by immigration"--circulated the present petition asking the County of Yuba to incorporate their settlement and provide streets, police protection, and administrative powers of government. The petition, introduced by Stephen J. Field, resulted in a bill passed by the California State Assembly on March 13, 1851, officially incorporating Nevada as a city. Bancroft, History of California VI, pp. 433n & 471. Brown & Dallison's Nevada, Grass Valley and Rough and Ready Directory (1856), p. 32. California Statutes (1851), pp. 339-48. Details upon request.

Leaves cockled and occasional staining. The last pastoral letter in the volume contains the author's ink rubric.

First editions. Palau 47537 (listing only the first work). The fourth work is unrecorded in Medina's La imprenta in Guadalajara. Very scarce letters written by the Bishop of Durango, Castañiza (Dicc. Porrúa, p. 534), including his letter of May 30, 1817, advocating pardon of the revolutionaries who plotted an uprising at Chihuahua. See Bancroft, Northern Mexico and Texas, vol. 2, p. 584. $250.00

75. CASTILLO VELASCO, C. J. M. del. Apuntamientos para el estudio del derecho constitucional mexicano. Mexico, 1871. [6] 860 [3] pp. 8vo, recent three-quarter tree sheep over red cloth, raised bands on spine. Front hinge starting and sporadic very light foxing, else fine.

First edition. Not in Palau or Sabin. The author, noted Oaxacan politician and writer, was serving as Secretary of State and Director of the National School of Jurisprudence when he wrote this exhaustive work on constitution reform. The appendix includes constitutions for the nation and each state. $75.00

76. [CATHOLIC CHURCH (LITURGY)]. Antiphoner: Musical manuscript on vellum in Latin, text commencing with large calligraphic initial in red, blue, and purple, numerous other smaller initials in red and blue, music and lyrics written in rounded gothic hand in brown and red, music on a 5-line red stave. Spain (Pamplona?), n.d. (before 1693, marginal note with that date). Small folio, recased in 18th century vellum. Trimmed with occasional loss of marginalia, moderate to light signs of use at outer margins from being held for reading. A few leaves with small tears

at bottom (text loss to only one leaf). Several old ownership notations in ink at front and back, marginalia throughout.

This manuscript containing hymns and prayers ends abruptly at leaf 33 verso. It passed through several owners and apparently was prepared for use in a private Spanish chapel. $500.00

77. [CAZNEAU, Jane M. McManus Storms]. Eagle Pass: or, Life on the Border by Cora Montgomery. New York: Putnam, 1852. 188 pp. 12mo, original blue cloth gilt. Some outer wear and occasional foxing, overall very good.

First edition, second issue. Graff 2873. Howes C251. Raines, p. 252. Winegarten, p. 107. An interesting record of life along the recently acquired Rio Grande frontier, by one of the first settlers of Eagle Pass, Texas. Wallace (Destiny and Glory, Chapter 12) states that the author "was the most adventurous of any American woman on record and deserves far more than the oblivion which has been her fate." See Streeter 1572. $300.00

78. CHAMBLISS, William H. Chambliss' Diary; or, Society as It Really Is. New York: Chambliss, 1895. xiv, 408 pp., plates from drawings by Laura E. Foster & photographs. 12mo, original blue cloth decorated in gilt and silver. Light shelf wear, but generally very good.

First edition. Cowan, p. 113. Howell 50:1478: "A satirical and often spiteful view of San Francisco society--the 'Parvenuocracy' who 'imagine that the mere acquisition of a few thousand dollars, coupled with an unlimited supply of insolence and arrogance, is all that they required in order to gain admission to the homes of persons of culture and refinement.'" 79. CHAMPLAIN, Samuel de. Les voyages de la Nouvelle France Occidentale, dicte Canada, faits par le Sr. de Champlain... Paris: Pierre Le-Mur, 1632. 16 (pp. 9-16, containing the table of contents, bound at end), 308, 310, 54, 20 pp., 6 engravings of Indians (lacks the very rare folding map). Small 4to, original full vellum. Slight edge wear to a few leaves and very light worming to a few others, otherwise a fine, large copy, untrimmed.

"Best edition" (Sabin 11839), the first edition was published at Paris in 1613. Church 420: "Of all the editions of Champlain, this is the only complete one...perhaps the most important of the old editions, as it contains a collective narrative embodying a review of all preceding French expeditions to the New World." Field 268:

Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88)

"First accurate accounts we have of the Indians of the interior of the present State of New York...personal observations and experiences among the Algonquins and Iroquois." Lande 118. Pilling 719n. Streeter Sale 3631. This copy has the imprint identified by Streeter as the first issue, and reprints the text of the Doctrine Chrestienne (Rouen, 1630) in the Huron language by Breboeuf on the last 20 pp. (which is lacking from many copies). The present edition contains accounts of Champlain's 9 voyages, the first appearance in print of a history of Canada for the period 1620-31, and a treatise on navigation. Champlain's history stands alone as a full, accurate, detailed account of New France in the first 3 decades of the 17th century, and as a historical and ethnological source it is without compare. The engravings, which are the same used in the 1619 Champlain, are some of the most accurate illustrations of Indians to appear before the 19th century. $8,500.00

80. CLAYTON, Wm. The Latter-Day Saints' Emigrants' Guide: Being a Table of Distances...from Council Bluffs, to the Valley of the Great Salt Lake. [Salt Lake City, 1930?]. [1] 24 pp. 24mo, original green cloth. Very fine.

Facsimile of the very rare 1848 edition printed at St. Louis. Howes C475: "Best guide for the itinerary covered, Council Bluffs to Salt Lake." Plains & Rockies IV:147. $100.00

81. CLEMENS, SAMUEL LANGHORNE. Autograph manuscript entitled: Vail's Courtship. [On board the Quaker City, October, 1867]. 8 lines on a small oblong removed from a larger leaf. Light soiling, else fine, hinged to a larger leaf.

Although this leaf was never a part of the notebooks that Clemens kept on the voyage as the basis for Innocents Abroad, the notes were obviously made to supplement his notebook entries on the subject of the romance of Robert Vail, the ship's pursuer. In the first week of October, passengers learned that Vail was engaged to the sister of a Turkish vice-consul in Alexandria whom he met on the voyage. On this leaf, Clemens writes: "Vail's courthip. Down in tar-sloop & back in kivered wagon./ Wm Mason--What matter wh yr leg?--Me--Hear you are writing book?/Salting bird's tail./ Nautical Yarn full of technicalities/ Some N.Y. Clerks." First edition. BAL 3500. Johnson, p. 89. Originally appeared in Harper's Magazine, August and September, 1906. Paine (1245) states that the story was written to oblige Mrs. Minnie Fiske, who had been so impressed by Twain's Dog's Tale, that she urged him to aid her in a crusade against bullfighting and to save the horses in the bullring in Spain. $50.00

83. CLEVELAND, H. W. S. (compiler). Voyages of a Merchant Navigator of the Days that are Past. Compiled from the Journals and Letters of the Late Richard J. Cleveland. New York: Harper, 1886. x, 245 [6, ads] pp., frontispiece portrait. Fine.

First edition. Wickersham 6663. Biography of Richard Cleveland by his son, presenting additional information and previously unpublished letters and journals. "Cleveland's first sea voyage was in 1792 followed by a number of others to various parts of the world. In 1799 he visited the northwest coast, including Alaska, and in 1803 California. The purpose of his coming to the northwest coast was to trade in furs. Cleveland was at the Old Sitka site of the first Russian establishment the day following Baranov's making a deal with Katleut, a Sitkan chief, which enabled him to start building an outpost of the Russian-American Co. on that spot" (Lada-Mocarski 115n). 85. [COLORADO BRAND BOOK]. HARTMANN, Chas. F. (compiler). Original manuscript brand book for the state of Colorado. Colorado, April 21, 1885. Approximately 251 pp., mostly with at least 6 brands for cattle and horses per page, and corresponding earmarks, where appropriate. 12mo, original sheep and calf ledger book with raised bands. Joints cracked and reinforced, else very fine.

This appears to be an official copy of the first state brand book for Colorado, dated just 14 days after the passage of the "Act to provide a system of recording brands in this State," which was approved April 7, 1885. The Colorado Brand Law of 1885 required that all brands used in Colorado be recorded in the State Brand Book. The present manuscript, compiled by Charles F. Hartmann, state cattle inspector for Colorado, and with the ownership inscription of L. R. Tucker, secretary of the Colorado Cattle Grower's Association, apparently was used to prepare the printed Colorado State Brand Book, issued in Denver in 1886. An extremely significant document for western cattle trade. See illustration. $7,500.00

London: Felix Kynngston, 1609. [8] 180 pp. Small 4to, modern calf in contemporary style. Slight worming at beginning mended (affecting some letters) repairs at margins of last few leaves and one running head.

First English edition of one of the great narratives of exploration and one of the earliest printed books relating to Texas (first printed in Portugese at Evora in 1557). Alden 609/131. JCB(3)II:68. Church 337: "The best account of De Soto's expedition to Florida. It was translated by Hakluyt with a view of inducing settlers to go out to the new colony of Virginia. This translation is among the rarest of Hakluyt's works... just who the 'gentleman of Elvas' was is uncertain; by some he is thought to have been Álvaro Fernández, by others Hernando de Soto himself."

Clark, Old South I:8: "The most valuable document on the 16th century history of the South. Besides its value as a major document in the exploration of North America, it gives the first insight into the location of Indian tribes in the South, and into the customs and religious practices of the Southern Indians in the vast areas explored.

Historically, it is a major link in the expansion of Spain into the South, tying the earlier explorations into the beginnings of colonization at St. Augustine." Field 1274n: "The [first edition] may perhaps be considered as the rarest work relating to American history known to have been published." Sabin 24896. STC 22938. Steele, English Interpreters of the Iberian New World, p. 18: "One of the few Spanish or Portugese narratives to relate directly to the areas of English colonization [which] revealed, in some detail, whole new areas to the English reader." Vail 13. Wagner, Spanish Southwest I, p. 41. The route taken covered the coast of Florida, across Georgia to the Savannah River, down the Alabama River, to the Mississippi, crossing near Memphis, and on to Oklahoma. Returning along the Arkansas they hoped to reach the Gulf, but finding only the Mississippi they struck out across the Texas plains to the Brazos River. Despairing of the overland route to Mexico, they returned again to the Mississippi, eventually reaching safety by floating down to the Gulf on rafts. See illustration. $25,000.00

104. [DIAMOND NECKLACE AFFAIR]. Collection of 20 pamphlets and books concerning the celebrated "Affaire du collier." Paris: V.p., 1785-6. Approximately 800 pp. altogether, 2 colored plates by Brion de La Tour bound in. 4to, contemporary full sheepskin (worn, hinges cracked though cords remain sturdy). An interesting association copy, bearing the signature of Henry Howard, Corby Castle-- Howard lived in Strasbourg and Vienna at the same time as Rohan, the principal character in the Diamond Necklace Affair. Howard often visited Rohan's uncle, and undoubtedly met the famous nephew.

The confusion surrounding this scandalous affair was so great that the truth of the matter was never fully established. By indiscretions of tongue and pen, the Cardinal Louis de Rohan earned the enmity of both Maria Theresa and her daughter, Marie Antoinette. His desire to reinstate himself in the latter's good graces evidently clouded his judgement, for he was duped by the self-proclaimed "Comtesse de La Motte" and a "Mlle. Le Guay d'Oliva" (hired by La Motte to impersonate the Queen) into negotiating the purchase of a diamond necklace of immense value--1,600,000 livres--supposedly on behalf of the Queen. He delivered it to a messenger who promptly absconded with it to England. Eventually, in a trial by Parliament, Rohan was judged the innocent dupe of La Motte; further, it was rumored that Marie Antoinette had conspired with La Motte to entrap Rohan. The accusation was lent credence by the subsequent escape of La Motte from prison. Complete list of contents available upon request. $950.00

119. [ESCANDÓN, JOSÉ DE]. ABAD Y ARÁMBURU, J. Oración fúnebre, que en el sufragio solemne que ofrecieron por el alma de el Señor Don Josef Escandón... Mexico: María Fernández de Jáuregui, 1812. [10] 21 [11] pp. 8vo, protective wrappers. Upper corner of title clipped with loss of a few letters, old stamp on inner leaf. Very good condition. Rare.

Second and best edition, with 10 pages of valuable historical notes added at end, including a complete list of the numerous settlements founded by Escandón in Texas and Northern Mexico, along with the name of the first leader of each town and the date of its founding. The first edition was published at Mexico in 1772. Palau 293: "Contiene multitud de notas históricas sobre fundaciones de villas, misiones y lugares, principalmente de la provincia del Nuevo Santander." Sutro, p. 81. Wagner's Spanish Southwest does not list either edition. This funeral oration provides biographical details on Escandón (1700-1770), Spanish colonizer responsible for the first successful settlements along the Rio Grande between present Laredo and Brownsville... The Spanish-speaking Texans which in 1949 constituted approximately 53% of the total population of the Rio Grande Valley were largely descendants of [Escandón's] early settlers. The bulk of the permanent Texas-Mexican inhabitants of this region, therefore are a result of Escandón's careful planning and determined leadership" (Handbook of Texas I, p. 571). 120. ESPINOSA, I. F. de. El peregrino septentrional atlante...vida del Venerable Padre Fr. Antonio Margil de Jesús... Mexico: Hogal, 1737. [38] 456 [4] pp., copperplate engraving of Margil preaching to Indians, title in red and black. 4to, original limp vellum with ties. Signatures GG₁ and GG₂ reversed when bound, otherwise a very fine copy from John Howell-Books, with a contemporary ownership inscription on title and marca de fuego of the College of San Fernando.

First edition, with title-page as described and reproduced by Wagner, with "Santo" on line 10 and "Con Licencia" in the first line of the imprint; pp. 426-7 censored (as in most copies) in a contemporary hand by the Inquisition because of references to the apocalyptic cherub Uriel. Basic Texas Books 59. Eberstadt, Texas 288. Fifty Texas Rarities 5. Howell 52:494: "Father Margil, a Franciscan missionary in Mexico and Guatemala, spent three

121. ETTINGHAUSEN, C. F. von & Alois Pokorny. Physiotypia plantarum austriacarum. Der Naturselbstdruck in seiner Anwendung auf die Gefässpflanzen des österreichischen Kaiserstaates. Vienna: Staatsdruckerei [1855]-1856. 2 vols.: (text) 4to, half brown morocco gilt, containing 30 nature-printed plates + (portfolio of loose plates) folio, containing 500 large nature-printed plates of plants and roots, all printed in brown on tissue paper. Text: binding worn, foxed, and with stitching broken. Portfolio: a few plates spotted or with marginal stains.

First edition of "the most important work produced by nature-printing ever published. The first edition is very rare" (Stafleu TL2, 1723). Nissen, BBI 613. Plesch Sale 249: "There are many examples of nature printing, from Leonardo onwards, but it was Alois Auer of the Vienna state printing house who mechanised it. His method is used in the present publication and it makes a splendid showing, almost its last flowering, as it was overtaken by photography. Henry Bradbury, the English nature printer learned (or stole) the method from Auer and it is used, for example, in The nature-printed British Sea-weeds, but on a much smaller scale." See illustration. $12,500.00

122. [EVANS, W. R. & F. I. Jordan]. Southwest. Boston: Privately printed, 1931. [4] 74 pp., numerous photoplates tipped in, decorated title, endpaper maps. 8vo, original dark green cloth. Very fine.

129. [FRÉMONT, JESSIE BENTON]. PHILLIPS, Catherine C. Jessie Benton Frémont, A Woman Who Made History... San Francisco: John Henry Nash, 1935. vii [1] 361 pp., frontispiece portrait, 31 plates. Royal 8vo, original rose boards, tan linen backstrip, printed paper label on spine. Fine.

First edition, limited edition. O'Day, pp. 88-9. Howell 50:1401: "An engaging biography of one of California's legendary women. The wife of John Charles Frémont, she was also an important and influential person in her own right--author and poet, traveller, and confidant of Bret Harte, John Greenleaf Whittier, Kit Carson, and many other leading 19th century political and literary figures." Howes P310. Rocq 17092. Jessie co-authored her husband's influential accounts of exploration. $65.00

130. FRÉMONT, John C. [& Jessie Benton]. Narrative of the Exploring Expedition to the Rocky Mountains, in the Year 1842, and to Oregon and North California, in the Years 1843-44. London: Wiley & Putnam, 1846. 324 pp., 4 plates, large folding map. 8vo, contemporary English sheep (expertly rebaked in matching sheep), red morocco spine label, marbled edges. Light edge wear, tear to map neatly repaired, else fine, with armorial bookplate.

First English edition, an unrecorded issue, similar to Plains & Rockies IV:115:6, but with 2 additional plates and without the ads. Cowan p. 223n. Field 565n. Graff 1433n. Grolier, American Hundred 49n. Howes F370n. Plains & Rockies IV:115:6n. Wheat, Mapping the Transmississippi West 481; Maps of the Gold Regions 22n. Zamorano 80 49n. The English edition, which contains an added introduction mentioning the dispute between Great Britain and the U.S. over claims to Oregon, is printed on much better paper than U.S. editions, which are usually foxed. The plates in this edition were executed by Day and Haghe, who created many of the outstanding lithographs of the 19th century, including Roberts' monumental plate book on Egypt. The text contains Frémont's account of his first expedition to the Rockies and his 1843-44 expedition which delineated the major sections of the route subsequently followed by California and Oregon immigrants. $750.00

131. FRENCH, W. J. Wild Jim, the Texas Cowboy and Saddle King. Antioch: Published by the author, 1890. 76 pp., illustrations. 8vo, original tan pictorial upper wrapper

(lacks lower wrap and spine). Fragile wrapper worn and frayed, some chipping and small marginal tears to first and last few leaves, and portions of last leaf supplied in facsimile. A scruffy copy of a rare book.

First edition. Adams, Guns 771: "Exceedingly rare. Among other things the author tells about the 'fight' between Wild Bill and the McCanles 'gang' as 'Wild Bill told it to me;' Herd 848. Howes F374. According to the introduction, Wild Jim left his home in New York at age 10 and went west where he became an expert hunter, trapper, Indian scout, and cowboy. The author states: "Wild Jim wishes to inform the public that this story is founded on actual facts...and will therefore differ materially from other books that contain purely fiction...This sketch will contain nothing but what the most fastidious person can peruse and enjoy with perfect propriety...He is one of the most interesting characters on this continent and if the writers of tales of adventure could get at him...he would afford them more material than the North American savage." $500.00

132. FURLONG, C. W. Let 'er Buck. New York & London: Putnam, 1921. xxxviii, 242 [6, ads] pp., numerous photographic plates. 8vo, original blue cloth gilt, with photograph on upper cover. Very fine, fresh copy.

141. GREEN, Thomas J. Reply...to the Speech of General Sam Houston. [Washington, 1855]. 67 pp. 8vo, later half morocco. The Littell-Eberstadt-Josey copy. Light soiling to title, else very fine.

First edition. Basic Texas Books 80n: "Green's vilification of Sam Houston so incensed Houston that he made a lengthy speech refuting [Green's book on the Mier expedition] on the floor of the U.S. Senate, calling Green a loafer, a pirate, a robber, a fugitive, a felon, a slanderer, a swindler, a reckless villain, and a dastardly coward. Houston maintained that the Mier Expedition under Green was 'without authority,' made in order to 'filibuster, rob, steal, and pilfer.'" Howes G372. Littell 416: "A rare item." Raines, p. 99. The present work is Green's spirited defense of his services to the Republic of Texas and his outraged reply to Houston's speech, painting a less than heroic picture of Houston. Green was one of 4 Texans with the rank of general in the Texas Revolution (outranking Travis, Bowie, Fannin, and Crockett), leader of the anti-Houston party during the Republic era, and commander of the Mier Expedition. After escaping from Perote Prison, he returned to write this famous book. $750.00

169. ITURBIDE, Agustín. Plan del Señor Coronel D. Agustín Iturbide... Mexico: Benavente y Socios, 1821. 2 pp., folio. Some staining and marginal chipping and tears.

Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88)

Second printing (first printed at Puebla February 24, 1821). Sutro, pp. 243-5. Not in Medina, Palau, etc. Iturbide's declaration of the Plan de Iguala by which Mexico became an independent political entity. This celebrated plan proclaimed immediate and complete independence from Spain, the establishment of a constitutional monarchy, equal treatment for Spaniards and Criollos, and the supremacy of the Catholic religion and intolerance of all other faiths. $800.00

170. IVINS, Virginia Wilcox. Pen Pictures of Early Western Days. N.p., 1908. 160 pp., frontispiece, illustrations. 8vo, original red cloth. Fine.

Unrecorded edition of one of the more elusive post-Wagner-Camp overlands (while the present work has the same title as Howes I93, it is a different work, with additions and deletions). Cowan p. 306n. Eberstadt 106:168n: "One of the few journals of the Overland kept by a woman, it forms a record of toils and hardships truly pathetic. In the Sierras, with only men about and no water near, this poor lady became a mother! 'With no one near to help, comfort or relieve, God only knows the fear and agony of that dreadful time.' There is, of course, much Indian material, as well as reminiscences of the early days and life in California." Eberstadt, Modern Narratives of the Plains & Rockies 245n. Flake 4296n. Howes I93n. Privately printed account of the author's overland trip to California in 1853 with her husband and a drove of 100 cattle, containing early reminiscences of Keokuk and the surrounding area. $300.00

171. JACK, Ellen E. The Fate of a Fairy. Chicago: Conkey [1910]. 213 pp., portraits, plates. 12mo, original red decorated cloth with portrait of author laid on. Some spotting to binding and first few leaves lightly foxed, near fine.

First edition. Eberstadt 103:141: "She seems to have been a sort of Calamity Jane of the Gunnison country." Schimmel, Women in the American Wilderness 79: "An Englishwoman who married a sea captain, Jack came from a wealthy family...In New York she began investing in real estate. After her husband's death left her with 2 small children, she built a hotel in Prospect Park which burned to the ground shortly after its successful opening... 'Then I began to see that the only friend on earth was money, and not only a friend, but power.' Putting her remaining child (by then 3 had died) in school, she went to Colorado and built accommodations for miners in Gunnison,

Western Illustrating 91. McVicker B115. Notable American Women, pp. 259-261: "Jackson's finest achievement, a romance of genuine vitality about the tottering Spanish society in California and the Indians victimized by gringo usurpers." Foreword by J. Frank Dobie, written especially for this edition. $125.00

173. JOHNSON, Clifton. An Unredeemed Captive...Being the Story of Eunice Williams, who, at the Age of Seven Years, was Carried Away from Deerfield by the Indians in the Year 1704, and who Lived Among the Indians in Canada as one of Them for the Rest of her Life. [Holyoke] 1897. [2] 54 pp., engraved illustrations, plates. 8vo, original pictorial wrappers bound into red cloth. Moderate outer wear and soiling, some discoloration to wraps, else fine, with two related newspaper clippings pasted in.

First edition. Ayer 164. Yager 1840. The captivity took place early during Queen Anne's War. Under the leadership of Jean Baptiste Hertel, 400 Frenchman and Indians descended on the village of Deerfield, the most northerly outpost of the colonies at that time. $125.00

174. JOHNSON, Susannah. A Narrative of the Captivity of Mrs. Johnson, Containing an Account of her Sufferings, during Four Years, with the Indians and French. New York, 1841. 111 pp. 16mo, original half calf over boards.
Moderate outer wear, else fine. Sarah W. Childs' copy, with her bookplate dated 1825.

Later edition (first published at Walpole, New Hampshire, 1796). Ayer 123. Howes J153. Schimmel, Women in the American Wilderness: "In 1754 the hostilities with the Indians of New Hampshire seemed to have ceased, so the Johnsons moved there to farm and trade with the local tribe. But Mrs. Johnson, then extremely pregnant, was kidnapped with her whole family by renegade Indians in cahoots with the French and marched off to Canada. Over the next 4 years, she and her kin were separated, spending 2-1/2 months with the Indians and 3 years in jails in Canada before being released by the Governor." $200.00

175. JOHNSTON, Eliza Griffin. Texas Wild Flowers... Austin: Shoal Creek [1976]. xl, 205 [2] pp., 97 full-page color lithographs after the original water color paintings by Eliza Johnston with facsimiles of her manuscript notations on facing pages, portraits, endpaper maps. Folio, original brown cloth. Very fine.

First edition, second printing. Fine facsimile of original manuscript and paintings made in the 1840's and 1850's by the author for her husband, Albert Sidney Johnston. $125.00

176. JOSEPHUS, Flavius. Que hoc volumine contineantur Josephi historiographi...[Works]. Paris: Nicolaus de Pratis for Poncet le Preux, 1511. [6] 203 leaves, printed in Latin, bâtarde type in two columns, publisher's large woodcut device on title, numerous decorated woodcut initials. Small folio, old vellum. Vellum split at rear joint, titlepage with a few small repairs and contemporary and later ink notes, missing final blank leaf, but overall a very good copy of a rare book (only other extant copy in British Museum).

Early Paris edition (first printed edition, Augsburg, 1470; first Paris edition, after Dec. 7, 1492). Josephus' writings constitute one of the greatest of all works of antiquity and an important source for the New Testament period. The author, historian of the Jews, was born in Jerusalem A.D. 37/8 and later became a citizen of Rome. This edition, which was translated by Rufinus, contains the author's complete works, including his firsthand account of the Jewish War, historical study the Jews, and his apologetic autobiography. Captured by the Romans while fighting in the Jewish war, he later became hated by the Jews, who considered him a traitor for changing sides. He acted as interpreter for Titus during the siege of Jerusalem and accompanied Titus to Rome. See illustration. $2,500.00

177. JUSTINIANO, Lorenzo. Dottrina della vita monastica. [Venice: Paul Fridensperger or Bernardinus Benalius] 1494. 114 leaves, gothic type, 3 full-page woodcuts. Small 4to, recased in old vellum. Light traces of foxing on first leaf, else fine.

First edition. BMC V:378. Goff J500. Hain 9477. Stillwell J450. Treatise on monastic life, noteworthy for its woodcuts. Two woodcuts are used as the covers, one in front and the other at the end; the first represents Saint John the Baptist and Saint Peter upholding the sacred name, and the one at the end shows saints upholding the name Maria. The third woodcut, however, is the most remarkable, and is "definitely known to be based on Gentile Bellini. It is the portrait of Lorenzo Giustiniani--who was Patriarch of Venice, 1451-56, and canonised in 1690--walking preceded by an acolyte bearing a cross, which renders in reverse and in modified form Gentile's picture of 1465 now in the Academy, Venice...and it is possible that Gentile may have provided the new design for the woodcutter" (Hind II, p. 497, with reproduction). $2,500.00

178. [KANSAS]. Collection of 10 autograph letters. Kansas City, January 23, 1867-May 8, 1870. 51 pp. 4to & 8vo. A few slight tears, overall fine.

An interesting collection of pioneer letters giving a vivid impression of life at the time, including details of a fire, shooting a man for stealing, railroad, a whipping, financial affairs, etc. $450.00

179. KENDALL, G. W. Narrative of the Texan Santa Fe Expedition. New York: Harper, 1856. xviii [13]-452 + xiii [10]-442 pp., 5 engraved plates, folding map (Texas and Part of Mexico and the United States Showing the Route of the First Santa Fe Expedition). 2 vols., 8vo, original black embossed cloth. One tear to map neatly mended, occasional light foxing, else a fine set.

Seventh and best edition (original edition Harper, 1844); "the most desirable edition" (Streeter), "rarest and most sought of all editions" (Eberstadt 162:457), with additions (Falconer's diary, synopsis of Marcy's Red River discoveries, and a chapter on the Woll and Snively expeditions and the Mexican-American War). Basic Texas Books 116. Clark, Old South III:188. Field 818. Fifty Texas Rarities 26a. Graff 2306. Howes K75. Martin & Martin 34n: "The map, along with the narrative, stimulated renewed interest in Texas and represented another major step toward the inevitable solution to the Texas question later in the decade." Plains & Rockies IV:110:10. Raines, p. 131n: "No Texas library complete without it." Rittenhouse 347. Streeter 1515n. Wheat, Transmississippi West 483. Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88) contemporary three-quarter calf over marbled boards. One small tear to map neatly repaired, else a very fine set.

First English printing of preceding (London edition of prior year consisted of American sheets with cancel title). Basic Texas Books 116C: "The Kendall narrative went through a number of contemporary printings, and John S. Kendall later stated that 40,000 copies were sold in 8 years, a noteworthy record for a non-fiction work of almost 900 pages." $450.00

181. KENDALL, G. W. Autograph letter signed to William T. Potter, editor of the Spirit of the Times. [New Orleans] June 16, 1844. 4to, 3-1/4 pp. Fine.

Kendall, founder of the New Orleans Picayune, requests William Potter to find a place for "Jenny and Julia" who are leaving "this place" for New York. His letter insinuates that the women were ladies of the evening. He says that they will behave and requests that no one know of his request on their behalf, and that the letter be burned. He mentions that Field has gone to St. Louis, Corcoran has been in Texas, and Lumsden got kicked by a horse. $750.00

182. KIMBALL, J. P. Laws and Decrees of the State of Coahuila and Texas, in Spanish and English, to which is added the Constitution of said State, also the Colonization Law... Houston: Telegraph Power Press, 1839. 353 [1] 6 [1] 4 [3] pp., English and Spanish on facing pages. 8vo, recent tan cloth. Intermittent staining and foxing, but overall very good, with contemporary and later ownership inscriptions.

First edition. Eberstadt Texas 461: "An indispensable collection." LC, Texas 73. Streeter 310. Contains the first complete translation into English of the Mexican laws relating to Texas. Very valuable for historical research, with over 400 individual decrees, many of which are extremely rare in their first printings in Spanish. Early Houston imprint. $750.00

183. KING, Clarence. Mountaineering in the Sierra Nevada. Boston: Osgood, 1872. [6] 202 pp. 8vo, original green cloth. Extremities expertly restored, very good copy.

First edition. Alpine Club Library, p. 176. Cowan, p. 328. Farquhar 12a. Goetzmann, Exploration & Empire, p. 450-1: "A great book [that] caught something no scientific report, however well written, could ever do. With his literary license, King not only presented the grandeur and the dangers of the High Sierras, but he also managed to recapture the local color and exoticism of the disappearing frontier and its picturesque people. As well as anything in print could do it, King's stories of degraded redmen, California bandits, Nevada desperadoes, and the forlorn Newtys of Pike, brought the West and its people brilliantly to life." Graff 2329n. Howes K148. Libros Californianos, p. 70: "The classic in books on American mountaineering by one who knew the Sierra long before the automobile and summer vacationist penetrated its sequestered depths." Neate, Mountaineering and its Literature 420. Zamorano 80 47. King was the first director of the U.S. Geological Survey. $275.00

184. KINZIE, Juliette A. A Narrative of the Massacre at Chicago, August 15, 1812, and Some Preceding Events. Chicago: Ellis & Fergus, 1844. 34 pp., frontispiece map. 8vo, later half leather over contemporary boards, leather label. Fine.

First edition. Byrd 872. Field 832. Graff 2339. Howes K170: "Most notable historical narrative from Chicago's pioneer press; based on conversations with Mrs. Hale and other survivors." Jones 1090. McMurtrie, Chicago 75. Sabin 3790. Streeter Sale 1480: "One of the great Chicago books. It is the earliest separately printed account of the Chicago Massacre, written originally for the grandchildren of John Kinzie, the first permanent settler of Chicago, from eyewitness accounts." Vaughan 169. $5,750.00

185. KIRKWOOD, S. J. Letter...in Response to Senate Resolution of January 6, 1882, the Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office upon the Survey of the United States and Texas Boundary Commission. Washington: SED70, 1882. 309 pp., numerous tables and maps in text, 15 large folding maps. 8vo, modern blue cloth, leather spine label. Very fine.

First edition. This work contains previously unpublished reports and field work pertaining to the extensive 1858-60 survey of the Texas-U.S. border, which was curtailed because of the Civil War. Excellent large-scale, extremely detailed maps showing Texas' borders with New Mexico and Indian Territory. Confusion over the results of this survey later resulted in lawsuits with New Mexico and Oklahoma. $250.00

186. [KRASHENINNIKOV, S. P.]. The History of Kamschatka, and the Kurilski Islands... Gloucester: R. Raikes for T. Jefferys, 1764. [8] 280 [8] pp., 2 folding engraved maps by T. Jefferys, 7 plates (on 5 sheets). 4to, modern calf, spine gilt. Tear to second map repaired (no loss), occasional slight discoloration or offsetting (as usual) to plates, overall fine.

First English edition, translated by James Grieve from the original Russian edition published in St. Petersburg in 1755. Cox I, p. 351. Hill, p. 166: "Deals with details of the customs, morals, and religion of the inhabitants of this peninsula as well as with the power exercised by the magicians...Differences between the dialects of the Kamchatkans and those of the Korsars and of the Kurile islanders...The first scientific account of those regions. Kamchatka played an important role in the exploration of the Pacific Ocean." Howes K265: "Contains one of the earliest descriptions of Russian America and the Kurile Islands." Lada-Mocarski 12n: "Chapter 10 entitled 'Regarding America' was compiled by the author from the notes made by Steller [and] is one of the earliest printed narratives about Alaska and the Aleutian Islands. The engraving of an 'American' is the earliest pictorial representation of a native inhabitant of any part of Alaska." Majors 45n. Sabin 38301. Sopikov 7567n. Wickersham 5942. Not in the Dolgopolov Collection. This valuable work, which forms a companion volume to Jeffery's Voyages from Asia to America (1761 & 1764) and Great Probability of a North West Passage (1768), relates considerably to the Northwest coast and adjacent islands and to the fur trade conducted there. $3,500.00

the Rocky Mountains and Down the River Columbia to the Pacific Ocean...1804-5-6. Philadelphia: Bradford & Inskeep, 1814. [28] 470 + [9] 522, 6 maps (one large & folding, "not issued with all copies"--Howes). 2 vols., 8vo, original calf, morocco labels. Expertly rehinged and slight foxing, but overall a very good.

First edition of the most famous of all western travels and the cornerstone of any collection of Western Americana. Church 1309. Field 928. Graff 2477. Grolier, American Hundred 30. Hill, pp. 376-7. Howes L317: "First authorized and complete account of the most important western exploration and the first of many overland narratives to follow." Jones 71. Paltsits, p. lxxvii. Plains & Rockies IV:13. Printing & the Mind of Man 272. Smith 5894. Streeter, Americana Beginnings 52. Wheat, Transmississippi West 316 & p. 58-9: "The progenitor of many later maps, and one of the most influential ever drawn, its imprint still to be seen on maps of Western America." The expedition was the brainchild of Thomas Jefferson and the final grand attempt to find a water route across the continent. While the search was unsuccessful, Lewis and Clark were the first recorded white men to cross the western half of North America. They brought back the first reliable information about much of the area they traversed and made contact with the Indian inhabitants as a prelude to the expansion of the fur trade. $9,500.00 widely reprinted and studied. The Livingston Code was adopted in Guatemala. A rare and important Central American imprint. $750.00

197. LOBDELL, Lucy. Narrative of Lucy Ann Lobdell, the Female Hunter of Delaware and Sullivan Counties, N.Y. New York: Published for the Authoress, 1855. 47 pp. 12mo, original blue printed wrappers. Some chipping and staining, overall a very good copy of an extremely rare pamphlet (only 2 copies of this book have ever appeared at auction, both in the 1920's; NUC locates only one copy, that in the Library of Congress).

First edition. Howes L408. O'Brien Sale 372: "The rare biography of one of the strangest pioneer figures of American annals. She dressed in men's clothes. Soon after this tract was published she went to Minnesota, spending 2 years in western wilderness, where for a time she travelled and hunted with Edwin Gribble without her sex being suspected." The only other biographical information that we've located so far on Lucy Lobdell is that she was born in 1829. See illustration. $3000.00

Puebla: May 19, 1836. 1 pp., small folio broadside. A few minor stains, but overall very fine.

Puebla issue of a Mexico City decree of the same date. Streeter 884n (locating only 2 copies of the Mexico City printing and not listing this Puebla issue at all): "The first announcement to the Mexican people of the tragic outcome of Santa Anna's Texas expedition. Only the bare announcement...is given with no details of the defeat and no mention of San Jacinto. The army is reported as burning with desire to ransom and avenge their chief. On the next day Congress passed a law pledging every effort to secure the liberty of Santa Anna, but declaring that any promise made by him while prisoner was not binding on the Government." The earliest mention Streeter makes of a Puebla printing of a notice regarding the event is an announcement by Governor Manuel Rincon, dated at Puebla May 22. $1,250.00

209. [MAP]. AA, Pieter van der. [World & Continents]. Leiden: Pierre van der Aa [1713]. 6 engraved maps, consisting of 2 world maps & 4 maps of continents. Each measures 49.5 x 65.7 cm. 5 of the maps with neat repairs at lower portion of centerfold, else very fine in strong impressions.

These beautifully engraved and embellished maps are from Pieter van der Aa's rare atlas, La nouveau théaâtre du monde (Koeman Aa6 & Phillips, Atlases 4257). The maps are: (1) Nova Orbis... A double hemisphere world map, elaborately decorated with surrounding allegorical figures, battle scenes, and fine rococo ornamentation. In North America the Mississippi, Ohio, Rio Grande, and St. Lawrence rivers are correctly delineated, and the Great Lakes are recognizable. The Northwest coast above California is left blank to avoid speculation. (2) Planisphère terrestre... A solitary hemisphere which shows the entire globe on a polar projection. Second state (with only minor alterations) of a new version of Cassini's 1696 map, the first scientific map of the world. North America, separated from the island of "Californie," is joined to Asia by the "Terres Inconnues." Sheldon 52: "The unique nature of its projection, enhanced by the mythological figures on either side, makes the whole a glorious example of French symmetry and elegance." Shirley 579n. (3) America... Based on Coronelli. Leighly 140. Tooley, America 71: "With impartiality [Aa] issued maps of America showing California as an island, at other times as a peninsula...California shown as an island on the second Sanson model." Wheat, Transmississippi West 95. (4) Afrika... Tooley, Africa, p. 1. (5) Europa... (6) Asia... A good borderlands map, very highly detailed, showing, for example, ranches along both sides of the border. The map was prepared by order of the Governor of Tamaulipas for the Comisión Geográfico-Exploradora. $275.00

211. [MAP]. AUSTIN, Stephen F. Map of Texas... [Philadelphia: Tanner, 1836]. Engraved folding map with original outline coloring by hand. 73.5 x 59.5 cm., folded into original 24mo black roan covers (expertly rebacked). Light offsetting and a few inconsequential stains, but overall very fine in original covers.

1836 reissue of Austin's map (first issue, 1830), occasioned by the Texas Declaration of Independence. Bryan & Hanak, p. 12n. Castañeda & Martin, Three Manuscript Maps. Graff 117n. Howes A404n. Martin & Martin 29n: "Without question the most accurate depiction of the area to date, and it served as a model for many subsequent productions...Austin set down the rivers accurately and in great detail, and the rendition of the coast significantly improved previously published attempts. The map pointed out locations of Indian tribes, 'immense herds of buffalo,' and 'immense droves of wild horses,' as well labeling prominent ridges and the crosstimbers." Martin, "Maps of an Empresario" (SWHQ 85:4): "In order to meet the increasing demand [for Austin's map by prospective Texas colonists], Tanner issued successive editions in 1833, 1835, 1836, 1837, and 1839...Austin's work clearly attracted the immediate attention of commercial map makers in the U.S., for Texas was a popular topic in that country and any works relating to Texas were in great demand...At the time of Austin's death in 1836, however, his map was still the one most relied upon for accurate information, and as late as 1844 it was listed as one of the sources used by William H. Emory in his Map of Texas and the Countries Adjacent." Schwartz & Ehrenberg, color plate 154 & p. 253. Streeter 1115D: "Various additional grants indicated, and new section of text stating the number of families to be located at the various grants shown on the map...There are several new towns not on the Austin 1830 map." 212. [MAP]. BELLIN, J. N. Carte réduite des costes de la Louisiane et de la Floride... Paris, 1764. Engraved map with modern outline coloring. 57.1 x 85 cm. A very fine copy of one of the largest scale and most decorative maps of the Gulf Coast of the 18th century.

First printing. Tooley, "Printed Maps of America" (MCS 96), p. 97 & 103. Lowery 485. Phillips, Atlases 590. Ristow, A la Carte, p. 84: "The Service Hydrographique of France under the leadership of J. N. Bellin produced numerous excellent charts of American waters." This chart showing the Bahamas, Florida, and Louisiana on the Gulf Coast from the Baye St. Louis (Matagorda Bay) in Texas to the mouth of the St. Johns River, Florida, was the most accurate and up-to-date depiction of the region then available. The Spanish forts in Texas, Mobile, New Orleans, and Natchitoches appear on the map, along with soundings along the coastline. Large decorative title cartouche and inset of the mouths of the Mississippi. $1,250.00

213. [MAP]. BLAEU, W. America nova Tabula, Auct: Guiljelmo Blaeuw. [Amsterdam, 1630-62]. Engraved map with contemporary hand-coloring. 41 x 55 cm. Light crease where formerly folded, overall fine, with nice coloring and large margins.

This decorative map shows the general 17th century European concept of the western hemisphere, combining the tradition of scientific cartography inherited from Mercator with the master engraving technique that characterized Dutch pictorial art in the age of Rembrandt. Side borders illustrate natives of New Albion (California), Virginia, Florida, Mexico, Brazil, etc.; the upper border shows city plans and views of Havana, St. Domingo, Cartagena, Mexico, Cuzco, Potosí, La Mocha (Chile), Rio de Janeiro, and Olinda (Brazil). The delineation nomenclature on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts are basically Spanish in origin and follow Ortelius and Wytfliet. Koeman Bl 56. Nordenskiöld Collection, p. 72. 214. [MAP]. CAREY, M. Mexico or New Spain. [Philadelphia, 1814]. Copper engraved map with original outline coloring. 44.4 x 38.7 cm. Moderately browned, else fine.

First printing of one of the earliest U.S. maps of the Southwest, by the publisher of the first atlas made in the U.S. (map 29 in the 1814 edition of Carey's General Atlas--Phillips, Atlases 722). Day, p. 11: "Shows towns, provinces, intendencias, rivers, mountains, location of Indian tribes. Texas as a province of the Intendency of San Luis Potosí." The map is closer in information to Pike than Humboldt. The "Provincia de Texas" is named and given better detail than on the Humboldt delineation; the boundary runs from the mouth of the Nueces to the headwaters of the Guadalupe, thence northeast and east approximately at the 32nd parallel to the Sabine. The area around Salt Lake City reflects the 18th century travels of Fathers Domínguez and Escalante. Detailed inset of Central America and the Isthmus of Panama. $500.00

The Tracts Possessed by the Company are the Wilson & Exter 1st Grant and the Milam Grant. Brussels: Konen Marché, ca. 1835. Lithographic map in original full color. 50.1 x 63.5 cm. Scale 1 inch = approximately 43 miles. A few neat repairs on verso, but overall very fine.

A very important colonization map of Texas. Streeter 1158A (locating only the copy in the Texas State Archives): "This map, easy to read because its grants are in colors, extends to a little above the 37th parallel and so like the Burr map of 1833 shows all of Texas. It is on a somewhat larger scale than the Burr map and an excellent map for the Texas of 1835. It is convenient also for showing at a glance the holdings of Dr. Beales's 2 land companies. In view of the Robertson Colony controversy, it is interesting to see that what is referred to on the Austin maps as the Austin and Williams grants, has here the legend 'Nashville Comp.'" 216. [MAP]. CORONELLI, V. M. Untitled hemispheric map of the world from author's Epitome cosmografica. [Venice, 1693]. 2 circular engraved maps, each with a diameter of 41.9 cm. Each map trimmed to outer margin, as issued. Fine, matted.

This large and unusual world map on 2 sheets is the rarest of all printed world maps by Coronelli, one of the most illustrious of all 17th century geographers. These maps are from the Epitome cosmografica, a work so rare that even the Riccardi and John Carter Brown copies are incomplete (no copies of the Epitome have appeared at auction in the last 8 years, the last copies having been in the late 70's, all of them incomplete). These beautiful spheres exhibit Coronelli's usual high standards, with the most up-to-date geography based on information from explorers such as Peñalosa, La Salle, Marquette, and others. Particular mention should be made of the depiction of the Great Lakes ("Finer maps of the Great Lades than those by Coronelli were not published again for many years"--Karpinski, p. 55); the Mississippi River (where Coronelli forwards the current theory that the river's mouth was located in Texas, a theory not dispelled until the beginning of the next century); the Northwest Coast of America (which has been left blank, indicating the complete lack of knowledge of the region); Australia and New Zealand. California appears as an island. Leighly 83-84, 86, 88-90. Wagner, NW Coast, p. 530. Wheat, Transmississippi West, pp. 43-5. See illustration. $2,500.00

Large engraved map in color, measuring 82.5 x 84 cm. Scale 1 inch = 20 miles. Folded into original 12mo red cloth covers. A few small stains and minor tears at folds, else very fine. Half brown morocco case.

Revised edition of a rare and important Texas map, "possibly the finest of the period" (Eberstadt Texas 41), first issued in 1849. Basic Texas Books 38n: "In 1849 [De Sam Houston delivered a speech praising the map on the floor of the U.S. Senate...assert[ing] that it was 'the most correct and authentic map of Texas ever compiled.'" Bryan & Hanak, p. 12. Fifty Texas Rarities 36n (citing the 1849 issue, of which only 2 copies are located): "Only 19 years separate this map and Stephen F. Austin's, yet the contrast between the two is striking. During those years, Texas had been a part of Mexico, an independent republic, and a state of the U.S." Graff 920n. Martin & Martin 39n; Contours of Discovery, p. 57. Wheat, Transmississippi West 603n. In 1855 publication rights were sold to Colton, who issued the map at least 4 times (1856, 1857, 1858, and 1861), with each issue revised to account for the tremendous development then occurring in the new state. New York: Colton, 1852. 84 [18, ads] pp. (text), folding lithographic map, 35.2 x 50.8 cm. with route in original hand-coloring. 16mo, original blue-grey cloth covers. Binding lightly spotted and front free endpaper excised, else fine, with unobtrusive marks of the Essex Institute.

First edition, second issue, with corrections and additions. Braislin 969: "Scarce. Containing a table of distances, showing all the known rivers, creeks, lakes, mountains, camping places, etc., on the Western trail. This is the first work which describes much of the route traversed. Horn travelled all the 'cut-offs' and kept a most minute account of the trail." Cowan, p. 292. Graff 1952. Howell 50:529. Few maps match the decorative qualities of this attractive map with compass roses, rhumb lines, sailing ships, natives (hunting and engaged in other pursuits), penguins, rheas, and 4 elaborate cartouches decorated with angels, gods, natives, penguins, seashells, etc. Kapp calls this map the most decorative map of Tierra del Fuego in print. $450.00

First issue, presentation copy to Hiram Price (the presentation copies are the first issues of this map and were given to government officials). Graff 2281. Martin & Martin 47: "In 1867, seeking to take advantage of public interest in all aspects of the West, but particularly the railroad routes, William J. Keeler, an engineer working in the Indian Bureau, published a large, attractive map of the entire country west of the Mississippi...As a product no doubt of Keeler's own employment with the Indian Bureau, the various Indian reservations were clearly shown and identified by a color scheme, an early use of this thematic device." First edition, second state, with second line of text on verso commencing "uus Orbis." Ortelius first published this landmark map, the first map of the Americas to appear in a modern atlas, in his Theatrum Orbis Terrarum in 1570. Ortelius greatly influenced Renaissance man's view of the New World by basing his map on information derived from reports of actual exploration; his sources included Cartier, De Soto, Coronado, Cortez, Cabeza de Vaca, Ponce de Leon, and Niza. Koeman Ort 2. Koeman, Ortelius, pp. 55-6 (good analysis of the accuracy of the map). Martin & Martin 4: "Typical of the magnificent engraving and printing of the Dutch...Although greatly exaggerated westward, North America was correctly shown with California as part of the mainland, and the entire continent was indefinitely divided between New Spain and New France." Schwartz & Ehrenberg, plate 32 & pp. 70-71: "[Ortelius'] world map...and the map of the New World 'Americae sive Novi Orbis, Nova Descriptio'. . . are called mother maps because of their continued effects on cartography. Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88)

Woodcut map in original full color, measuring 34.3 x 50.1 cm. Very fine, with outstanding original color.

A beautifully colored map from the 1598 French edition of Ortelius's Theatrum orbis terrarum; identical to the first issue (Amsterdam, 1580). Koeman Ort 32. Wagner, NW Coast 1579n: "The first printed real map of New Spain." An attractive map, dominated by two extraordinarily elaborate mannerist cartouches, making it as decorative as any late Renaissance period map ever produced. Detailed depiction of the Pacific Coast of Mexico between approximate latitudes 23°DG to 17°DG north, showing Spanish strongholds and Indian towns; Mexico City and Guadalajara are among the hundreds of towns and villages located. $500.00

225. [MAP]. OVERTON, John. A New and Most Exact Map of America Described by N. I. Visscher and Don [sic] into English Enlarged and Corrected According to I. Bleau [sic] and Others... London [1669]. Engraved map with original hand coloring. 42.5 x 51.4 cm. Creased where formerly folded and some light spotting, overall fine.

First English edition, second issue (the imprint is here changed and the 1668 date is deleted). Leighly 50. Sheldon 45. Tooley, "California as an Island" (MCS 8) 24: "Rare and attractive map...More rare than the De Wit map of 1660 and far more decorative...California follows the Speed, not the Sanson, model with a flat northern coast;" America 39: "A rare and attractive map...Originally drawn and issued by Petrus Kaerius in 1614, it was reissued by Visscher in 1636, by De Wit in 1660 and again by Overton." An elaborately decorated map of the Americas based loosely on that of John Speed, with cartouches, compass roses, sailing ships, sea monsters, and border containing 10 plans and views, 8 tribal figures, and 6 medallion portrait-heads of famous explorers, all fully colored. $3,000.00

226. [MAP]. REISCH, Gregor. [Untitled Map of the World]. Strasbourg, 1504? Woodcut map with full contemporary hand coloring. 28 x 40.6 cm. The map has been trimmed within engraved surface in upper left corner. A bit of paper loss in a few places and some restoration at fold, but overall fine condition for a map of this vintage, with contemporary coloring, which is extremely rare on any version of this map.

Previously unrecorded issue of an important early printed world map. Bagrow-Skelton, p. 100. Harrisse 82n. Shirley 23A (this copy): "An unusual variant map, believed to have come from a 1504 (Schott) edition of Reisch's Margarita...Taliaferro wrote: 'There is no doubt in my mind that it is pulled from a completely new block rather than one that had been masked or altered.' It seems possible that this unrecorded variant may predate the normal four-headed version." The World Encompassed 49n: "This curious map is an interesting combination of fact and fancy, of the Ptolemaic world with medieval facets. On it is an inscription which some writers have interpreted as a reference to the discovery of America...It is generally accorded that the scales of measurements, as we understand them, came in, for both latitude and longitude, with [this] map." The map was based on the Ptolemaic model of the world and became one of the last printed maps to be legitimately so drawn; the Rosselli (1506) and Ruysch (1507) maps based on Columbus' voyages effectively broke the Ptolemaic mold. Based on internal evidence, the present issue seems to be a transitional version. $7,500.00

Dorothy Sloan Books – Bulletin 5 (88)

227. [MAP]. RUSCELLI, Girolamo. Nueva Hispania Tabula Nova. Venice, 1561. Copper engraved map measuring 18 x 24.7 cm. Very fine.

First printing of Ruscelli's map of New Spain, based on Gastaldi's 1548 map but with several significant corrections. Martin & Martin 3: "The map of New Spain was significantly improved, correctly showing Yucatan as a peninsula. The place names along the upper Gulf Coast revealed the explorations of Piñeda, Cabeza de Vaca, and Moscosso, and the Mississippi, here shown as the 'Rio de Spiritu Santo,' was carefully depicted. The map enjoyed wide influence, appearing in successive editions of Ptolemy." Nordenskiöld, Facsimile Atlas, p. 26. Phillips, Atlases 371, 372. Wagner, Northwest Coast 48. This is one of the very first maps to show any detail in Texas and the Southwest $500.00

228. [MAP]. SANSON, N. Amérique septentrionale... Paris: Mariette, 1650. Engraved map with original outline coloring. 38.7 x 55.5 cm. Lightly soiled, one small stain below Iceland, and one small wormhole, else fine.

First edition (second state, with Lake Ontario smaller and not named; but only one copy of the first state is known, see Heckrotte, "Nicolas Sanson's Map of North America, 1650: An Apparently Unrecorded First State" in The Map Collector September, 1980). Heidenreich, "Seventeenth-Century Maps of the Great Lakes" (Archivaria VI) 86: "The first printed map depicting the complete extent of Jesuit exploration and mapping...embellished with native tribal names which greatly aid in identifying the locations of these groups prior to the great dispersions of the 1640s and 1650s." Karpinski 8. Leighly, plate 7: "Shows an island of the Briggs configuration but with additions that make it a new type." Lowery 136. Martin & Martin 10n: "Sanson introduced a great deal of information concerning the nomenclature of American Indians, with words such as 'Apache' and 'Navajo' appearing on printed maps for the first time. He was also the first cartographer to show Santa Fe as the capital of New Mexico." Schwartz & Ehrenberg, plate 61: "First printed map to show all 5 of the Great Lakes; first to name Superior." Tooley, "California as an Island" (MCS 7) 7. Wagner, NW Coast 360. Wheat, Transmississippi West 47 & p. 39. The first map to depict North America using a sinusoidal projection, it showed continental size to best advantage and typifies Sanson's care with scientific exactness. It remained the best map for the area until the publication of the Coronelli map of 1688. $4,500.00

229. [MAP]. SANSON, N. Le Nouveau Mexique et la Floride... Paris: Mariette, 1656. Engraved map with original outline coloring. 31.1 x 54.6 cm. A bit of minor spotting, otherwise excellent.

First state, engraved by Somer. A cornerstone map of California and the Southwest, based on the Blaeu world map of 1648. Cumming, Southeast 49: "This map...exerted a profound influence on the delineation of the North American continent for nearly a century." Day, p. 2. Leighly 27. Lowery 147. Martin & Martin 10: "[Sanson] and his followers rejected the Dutch tendencies in the use of heavy ornamentation in the drawing of maps; they emphasized only verifiable information...[The present map] was the first significant map in a printed atlas to specialize in what is now the American Southwest. For many years it served as a prototype for the delineation of California as an island, and contributed a number of new place names in the New Mexico region, a vast area ranging from the Pacific Ocean on the west to the Florida territory on the east and Canada on the north. [Locates] a number of new Indian tribes in the New Mexico region." Schwartz & Ehrenberg, pp. 111 & 121. Tooley, "California as an Island" (MCS 8) 14. Wagner, NW Coast 374 & pp. 130-132. Wheat, Transmississippi West 50 & pp. 39-40: "By far the most interesting and important map--so far as what is now western U.S. is concerned--that had appeared since Enrico Martínez drew his little 'sketch' of Oñate's route to Quivira in 1602." $3,500.00

230. [MAP]. SCHEDEL, H. [Untitled and unsigned Ptolemaic world map showing the Eastern Hemisphere on a conical projection, surrounded by 12 wind heads]. [Nuremberg, 1493]. Woodcut map with handcut lettering in Latin. 31 x 43.6 cm. A bit of inconsequential age-staining, else very fine, with generous margins.

First edition. This map, which appeared in the Nuremberg Chronicle, was one of the later printed maps reflecting a Ptolemaic world view. It was published in July of 1493, and Columbus returned to Portugal from his first voyage to America in March of the same year. At least 10 years would pass before Columbus' discoveries would be reflected in printed maps. Campbell, The Earliest Printed Maps 1472-1500 219: "Even if the person who drew up this map has not been identified, it is known that the book's designer was Michael Wohlgemuth, assisted by his stepson Pleydenwurff and probably the young Albrecht Dürer." Goff S307. Nordenskiöld, Facsimile Atlas, pp. 38-40. Shirley 19: "The world map is a robust woodcut taken from Ptolemy without great attention to detail. The border contains 12 dour windheads while the map is supported in 3 of its corners by the solemn figures of Ham, Shem and Japhet taken from the Old Testament. What gives the map its present-day interest and attraction are the panels representing the outlandish creatures and beings that were thought to inhabit the furthestmost parts of the earth." See illustration. $3,500.00

231. [MAP]. WALDSEEMÜLLER, Martin. Untitled map of the New World. [Strasbourg, 1525]. Woodcut map. 28 x 36.8 cm. Small stain in blank margin, overall very fine.

Very early issue of the first printed map specifically devoted to the New World, known as the "Admiral's Map," said to have been taken from Columbus' lost chart, with printed caption on map and text on verso announcing Columbus' discovery of the New World. Cartographic Sources in the Rosenberg Library 2: "Waldseemüller's work is the first to show the 2 American continents with a continuous coast. Scholars have variously described the large river flowing into the Gulf of Mexico as the Rio Grande, the Mississippi, and the Ganges. The map is a reduced, revised version of the Tabula Terre Nove that appeared in the 1514 Strasbourg edition of the Geography. The original 1513 issue is the first printed map devoted specifically to European discoveries in the New World...The 1525 version reflects minor, but interesting, changes from the 1513 map. South America is 'Terre Nova' instead of 'Terre Incognita'; the name 'Tebrapa Pagalli' is applied to Brazil; and a vignette of Brazilian natives and fauna, after a description given by Vespucci, fills the blank interior of the continent." Harrisse, p. 310ff. Kohl 37n. Lowery 22. Martin & Martin 1n. 232. [MAP]. YOUNG, James H. A New Map of Texas, with Contiguous American & Mexican States. Philadelphia: S. Augustus Mitchell, 1837. Engraved map in original full color, measuring 32 x 38 cm., folded into original green roan covers. A very fine, crisp copy of this pocket map, beautifully colored.

Third issue. Day, p. 21. Raines, p. 250. Streeter 1178B (one of the few maps singled out for inclusion in his bibliography of Texas): "The same plate is used for all editions of this map and it covers substantially the same area as the Burr map first published in 1833...The error in the Burr map of running the boundary between Texas and Louisiana about half a degree too far west is not repeated in the Young map." An extremely handsome map with each land grant colored and insets of: Land grants (explaining procedures for obtaining grants from the government of Coahuila y Tejas); Remarks on Texas (commenting on plans of Anglo settlers to "obtain a government separate [sic] from that of Cohahuila [sic]" and a description of cattle raising--"Texas is one of the finest stock countries in the world. Cattle are raised in great abundance and with but little trouble"), and Rivers of Texas. Mitchell first issued this map in 1835, the year the revolution began. The intense interest in events west of the Sabine caused Mitchell, one of America's leading commercial mapmakers, to issue 7 revisions by 1845. They provide interesting insight into the spread of settlement during the early Republic Period. An historic and important map by one of the leading cartographers of the day, based on the superlatively rare Burr map. $4,500.00

Split at centerfold expertly mended (a few letters lost). Rarely seen.

First printing. An extremely important bando marking the end of the brief armistice from August 21 to September 6, 1847, during which Trist proposed, among other things, setting the southern boundary of California at the 33rd parallel (which would have made San Diego a Mexican harbor) and fixing the western boundary of Texas at the Nueces. Presents the vitriolic correspondence between Winfield Scott and Santa Anna in which Mexico accuses the U.S. of having broken the armistice by holding up provisions on their way to Mexican forces. Scott denies the accusations and declares the armistice broken. Except for a copy recently seen in a private Mexican collection, this is the only copy we've seen, although the Eberstadts had it at least once. See illustration. $1,500.00

]uf4>260. [MEXICAN-AMERICAN WAR]. [SITGREAVES, Lorenzo]. Three important manuscript documents relating to the Battle of Buena Vista, including a manuscript map of the battlefield, his firsthand account of the battle, and an annotated copy of Albert Pike's famous poem. [Buena Vista, February & March, 1847]. 5 pp., 4to. Creased where formerly folded, but overall fine.

An excellent collection of material relating to the Battle of Buena Vista, one of the decisive conflicts of the Mexican-American War, assembled by an important participant. Sitgreaves, topographical engineer and Western explorer (Plains & Rockies IV:230; Goetzmann, Army Exploration, pp. 244-7), served with distinction in the Mexican-American War under General Taylor. The present collection includes: (1) 600-word letter to his sister, written March 21, 1847, giving a detailed account of the battle; (2) his manuscript map entitled "A Sketch of the ground of the Battle of Buena Vista" showing the battle area and positions of the troops, with a key of important locations on the side; (3) Sitgreaves' copy of Albert Pike's famous poem "Buena Vista" differing considerably from published version. Sitgreaves comments in a postscript to his letter, "In stead of my own, I send you a poetical description of the battle by Albert Pike, a Capt. of the Arkansas cavalry--a good fellow, a gentleman & a gallant soldier, and poet already known to fame." Sitgreaves has filled the margins around the poem with footnoted annotations giving details on people and places. See Thrapp, Encyclopedia of Frontier Biography for more information on Sitgreaves. $7,500.00

261. [MEXICO]. Constitución fédérative des e'atats-unis mexicains, sanctionée par le congrès général constituant, du 4 octobre 1824... Paris: Dondey-Dupré Père et Fils, 1825. 162 pp., engraved frontispiece of Mexican eagle on a cactus with each state shown (including New Mexico, California, and Texas). 24mo, original drab grey printed wrappers, contemporary manuscript spine label. A few light stains to upper blank corners of last few signature, else a very fine, unsophisticated copy.

First French edition. Sabin 48389. Streeter 1086 (citing U.S. printing). First constitution of Mexico as a sovereign state. Also important for Southwest history, since Texas, New Mexico, and California were Mexican states at that time. Under this constitution, slavery was abolished and Indians lost their status as wards of the state. The overthrow of this constitution by Santa Anna in 1834 was one of the irritants which led Texans to seek their independence from Mexico. Not in Palau. See illustration. $900.00

262. [MEXICO]. Reglamento de la Dirección de Colonización. Mexico: Aguila, 1846. 22 pp. 16mo, original printed self wrappers, stitched. Fine.

Unrecorded edition. Contains all of the Mexican laws relating to colonization. Both the Californias are specifically mentioned with the stipulation that the price of land there will be half the cost of land in other areas. Not in Palau, Barrett, etc. $500.00

263. [MEXICO]. Tratado sobre geografía general. Mexico: Vicente Segura, 1854. 117 pp. 16mo, original navy calf, gilt. Light outer wear and front pastedown abraded, else fine.

Over a third of this little geography is devoted to America. This was one of the earliest Mexican geographies to acknowledge that the lands acquired by the U.S. under the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo were no longer part of Mexico's territory. $75.00

264. [MEXICO (Estado Mayor General del Ejercito)]. Bound volume of printed decrees with manuscript title: Colección de ordenes y decretos circulados al Ejército por el Supremo Gobierno..., followed by ms. index. Mexico, March 18, 1827-May 2, 1828. Over 40 circulars, bandos, and decrees. 12mo to folio, bound in contemporary Mexican sheep. Rather wormed at end with occasional loss of some letters, else fine.

An interesting gathering of decrees which gives a comprehensive picture of military affairs in Mexico over a 14-month period during the formative years of the new republic. Decree permitting troops to be used outside of the Mexican Republic (Cuba specifically mentioned); decree of May 8, 1828 setting up 6 new cavalry companies in California, appointing leaders, and designating where troops will be stationed (Monterey, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, San Diego, etc.); appropriation for fortification of the Isle of Carmen in Yucatan; establishment of a Corps of Engineers (the brigade for the Estados Internos de Oriente--Coahuila y Tejas, Durango, Chihuahua, New Mexico, and Tamaulipas--to reconnoiter the U.S.-Mexico border and build fortifications as needed; several decrees mentioning Texas; etc. Details available upon request. $900.00

265. MICHAUX, F[rançois] André. Illustrated manuscript in French entitled: Histoire des arbres forestiers de l'Amérique septentrionale... Paris, 1813. [4] 351 + [4] 337 + [6] 337 pp., text in French, 144 original watercolors of trees (showing foliage and flower, fruits and/or seeds). 3 vols., 8vo, contemporary half crimson calf over boards. Some outer wear (especially to fragile boards), internally fine except for occasional light stains (from old placemarkers).

This lovely manuscript with attractive watercolors is related to an important work describing and illustrating forest trees of North America by French botanist Michaux. The printed work (Paris, 1810-1813) with plates prepared from original drawings by Pancrace Bessa and P.-J. Redouté, plus a few by H.-J. Redouté and Adèle Riché, became the standard work on American trees. For reference to the printed version of Michaux's book, see McPhail, "Books Illustrated by Redouté" (A Catalogue of Redoutéana, Hunt Botanical Library, 1993, pp. 44-5): "This work [is] the result of [André] Michaux's 10-year sojourn in North America under commission from the French government. His interest in North American trees was also to assess their importance as timber for the construction of naval vessels." See also Bennett, p. 76, Church 1370, Dunthorne 251, Nissen 361, Pritzel 6196, and Sabin 48693. See illustration. We are still researching this item; details will be available on request.

266. [MICHIGAN]. Constitution of the State of Michigan, as Adopted in Convention, Begun and Held at...Detroit 11 May 1835. Detroit: M'Knight, 1835. 20 pp. 8vo, later half morocco. Fine.

First printing. Eberstadt, American Constitutions 166:76: "Drawn up in large part by the almost legendary 'boy governor,' the first to serve in that capacity in the State of Michigan. In 1831, at the age of 19, Stevens T. Mason was appointed Secretary of the Territory, and during most of the next 5 years, he was acting governor ex officio. He seized the leadership of the movement for statehood and vigorously prosecuted the boundary dispute with Ohio, calling out the militia to guard the Toledo Strip which rightfully belonged to Michigan by the Northwest Ordinance, but had been given to the sister State. The transition of Michigan from territory to state is unique in American history, involving the Toledo War and this Constitution. Under its influence a political revolution was consummated; the territorial government was banished; a state government established which included the disputed territory; and Michigan functioned as a state for a year and a half unrecognized by the U.S.!" engravings by Montes de Oca depicting the life of the patron saint of Mexico, San Felipe de Jesus. Born in Mexico City in 1575, he travelled to Manila, where he became a priest. The first 12 plates depict his early life and call to God; the next 10 depict his shipwreck in Japan, near Nagasaki, his persecutors, and death by crucifixion at the hands of the Japanese; the last 5 record his beatification in 1627 and miracles attributed to him. One of the finest examples of Mexican engraving. $1,750.00

271. MOORE, Francis. Map and Description of Texas... Philadelphia & New York: Tanner, 1840. 143 [2] pp., frontispiece, 7 engraved plates, large folding map in original full color (72.5 x 58.5 cm.). 16mo, original black cloth stamped in gilt and blind (neatly rebacked). Small unobtrusive waterstains to outer margin of last half of text, map with minor splitting at folds and light offsetting. Despite these minor faults, an exceptional copy of an extremely rare book, seldom found complete, especially with the fine, large Stephen F. Austin map in its rarest issue. Slipcase.

First edition, with the definitive issue of the Austin map. Bradford 3666. Clark, Old South III:212. Graff 2880. Howes M764. Raines, p. 151. Streeter 1363 (locating 5 copies, 2 of which lack the map): "The 8 plates, with the views of the missions and towns of Texas as they were around the year 1840, make [this] a most important Texas book. There are surprisingly few books entered in this bibliography with actual, rather than imaginary, illustrations of Texas places...Moore's [book] is also important for giving the first detailed account of the then 32 counties of Texas...Francis Moore is well known in Texas history as the owner with Jacob W. Cruger, during the period of the Republic and a few years afterward, of the Telegraph and Texas Register." Austin's map appears here in its rarest issue, fully colored and in its most complete form, more correctly reflecting the geography and political divisions of the Republic of Texas, with many added place names and showing both land grants and counties. See item 211 herein. See illustrations. Details on request.

272. MORPHIS, J. M. History of Texas, from Discovery and Settlement... New York: U.S. Publishing Co., 1874. 591 [1] [8, ads] pp., frontispiece of Alamo, plates, portraits, large engraved colored map of Texas by Colton (40.3 x 60.3 cm.). 8vo, original brown cloth with gilt-stamped seal of Texas (expertly rebacked, original spine preserved). Fine, with interesting book plate.

large folding map showing the route (30.4 x 129.5 cm.). 8vo, original blue printed wrappers bound in later maroon calf. Spinal extremities and corners of binding lightly chipped, else very fine.

First edition. Howes P354. Streeter Sale 3277: "Pierce's route was from West to East, for the most part, if not all the way, not more than 50 or 60 miles south of the Canadian boundary. His route was by the north end of Lake Chelan, thence up the eastern slope of the Cascades by a river he called after himself, the Pierce. The account is well written and doubtless, as Pierce says, this was the first time the journey had been made by a white man." Not in Hill or Smith. $600.00

First edition. Cowan, p. 491. Howell, California 50:192: "This Reglamento implements the decree of May 25, 1832, which ordered that the properties in the Pious Fund be rented and the proceeds deposited in the mint at the capital for the sole benefit of California." By these regulations secularizing the great wealth of the California missions, Mexican authorities hoped to replace the old monastico-missionary regime of California with civil colonies, like those proposed by Híjar and Padrés. Unfortunately, most of the funds ended up in the hands of Santa Anna. $500.00

Occasional light foxing and browning, but a fine copy of a rare book.

First edition of the first book focusing on northeast Texas. Basic Texas Books 187: "Prepared by an educated and perceptive observer, this is an excellent eyewitness account of northeastern Texas...An exceptional view of this region of Texas just at the time that active settlement was starting. He includes 2 very fine maps, one of Texas as a whole and the other the best representation of the Marshall-Dallas region up to that time. The volume itself consists of description, extensive statistical information, and discussion of the soil, communications, resources, travel routes, climate, and products of the area, which he says encompass 'everything the heart could wish.'"

333. SMITHWICK, Noah. The Evolution of a State or Recollections of Old Texas Days. Austin: Gammel [1900]. [10] 9-354 pp., 8 portraits & plates. 8vo, original blue decorated cloth. A bit of light spotting to binding, else fine.

First edition. Basic Texas Books 290: "One of the most anecdotal of all the major and minor events of his time [with] a fascinating depiction of social life in Texas when it was a colony and a republic. Smithwick served with the Texas Rangers and lived for awhile with the Comanches, learning their language and representing them in making a treaty with the Texans in 1838. He gives us anecdotes available nowhere else on men he knew such as James Bowie, Sam Houston, Stephen F. Austin, David G. Burnet, Gail Borden...and others. He tells of smuggling, counterfeiting, gambling, drinking, and dancing with a frankness lacking in most other Texas autobiographies. Smithwick came in Texas in 1827." Bradford 506. 334. [SONORA Y SINALOA]. Collection of 9 bandos, broadsides, and circulars related to Sonora and Sinaloa. Mexico, Mazatlan & Culiacan, 1830-53. 9 separate items, each folio, 1-4 pp. Condition varies, but generally fine.

An interesting group of ephemeral material reflecting the history of Sonora and Sinaloa, including rather early imprints from Mazatlan and Culiacan. The collection includes: 1830 decree dividing Sonora and Sinaloa into separate states (see Bancroft, N. Mexican States & Texas II, p. 644-6); decrees from Culiacan (1833-4) attempting to suppress revolts which had arisen in Sinaloa; 1836 Culiacan decree mentioning "la guerra provocada por los Colonos de Tejas;" 1836 Culiacan decree on the Pious Fund and the establishment of the first bishopric in California; 1846

Mazatlan decree entitled "Tambien en Sinaloa se detesta la monarquia," bitterly complaining about the Yankee invasion of Mexico; November 27, 1853, Mazatlan decree referring to "una horda de piradas salidas de San Francisco de Alta California" (Walker's filibustering expedition that took La Paz, Baja California without a shot, and proclaimed a new republic with Walker as president). 335. SPAIGHT, A. W. The Resources, Soil, and Climate of Texas. Galveston: Belo, 1882. x, 360 pp., large folding map in full color. 8vo, original maroon cloth. Light outer wear, but near fine. Map split at folds, but no losses. Presentation copy, signed by author. Very scarce, especially with the map, as the map was not bound in the book.

First edition. Adams, Herd 2126: "Rare." Basic Texas Books 194: "First reliable statistical account of Texas... Presents for the first time the tabulated statewide data received by Commissioner Spaight from official inquiries...For each county, Spaight gives essential data such as population...property values, physical description in great detail, current land prices, geology and minerals, railroads, county organization, agriculture, schools, manufactures, religious institutions, and climate. Full details on cattle and stock raising are presented, providing the most reliable statistics on the Texas cattle industry during this key period. The large folding map may be considered the first modern and truly accurate map of Texas." First edition, probable earlier issue, with pp. 34 & 35 in vol. II misnumbered as 33 & 34. Cox I, p. 139: "This work is too well known to need description. Sterne, unlike Smollett, found amiability, courtesy, urbanity, dignity, cordiality, and sentiment everywhere among all classes of Frenchmen. At the same time he was not blind to their defects, such as the abuses of power, for the Bastille was too obvious a fact to be ignored. This work was very popular in France." De Ricci, p. 550. 351. TILDEN, Bryant P., Jr. Notes on the Upper Rio Grande, Explored in the Months of October and November, 1846 on Board the U. S. Steamer Major Brown... Philadelphia: Lindsay & Blakiston, 1847. 32 pp., 9 folding lithographic maps. 8vo, original blue printed upper wrap. Upper wrapper and first few leaves spotted, light chipping to blank margins of maps and one map neatly repaired at fold, else fine, preserved in a cloth case.

First edition of a rare and important work on Texas and the Mexican-American War, giving an account of a river journey from Camargo at the mouth of the Rio San Juan, up to the Rio Grande nearly 300 miles to the Presidio de Rio Grande. Graff 4151. Howes T264. Raines, p. 206. Tilden's maps and detailed text constitute an excellent source for conditions along the Rio Grande during the early campaigns of the Mexican War. The primary purpose of the mission was to determine the feasibility of opening steamboat communications as far up river as Presidio de Rio Grande, then the crossing point on the river for traffic between San Antonio and Monclova. Tilden's party left on their expedition October 1, 1846, less than a week after the Battle of Monterrey. They were unable to proceed further than Laredo by water and made the last leg of the journey on horseback. Text includes descriptions of towns along the route (Mier, Laredo, Presidio de Rio Grande, etc.), the countryside, and encounters with Mexicans. The maps, with their interesting notations, show the Rio Grande from Camargo to the Presidio de Rio Grande, the most accurate and informative published maps of the area to

First edition. Phillips, America, p. 843. Streeter 1432. Streeter (1438n) calls the maps in this report "the most important in Texas history, in that they show the final boundary between Texas and the U.S. from the Gulf of Mexico to the Red River" and says that the book is one of the most important for a Texas collection. In the introduction of vol. III, Streeter further comments that the maps "are of prime importance. Prior to this publication...the actual boundary was so poorly known that Miller County, claimed by Arkansas, turned out to be a part of the Republic of Texas." The text contains the correspondence and negotiations between the Republic of Texas and the U.S. commissioners. The map of the Sabine Pass is on an extremely large scale (2 miles = 1 inch). 376. [WINTHROP, KATHERINE]. WINTHROP, R. C. A Difference of Opinion Concerning the Reasons Why Katherine Winthrop Refused to Marry Chief Justice Sewall [Wrapper title]: A Few Words in Defence of an Elderly Lady. Boston: Privately Printed, 1885. 25 pp. 8vo, original grey wrappers. Very fine, unopened.

First edition. The author objects to his great-great-grandmother being characterized a "worldly-minded woman" and the suggestion that she encouraged Justice Samuel Sewall (1652-1730, DAB) to propose and then refused him because of mercenary motives. The author suggests that the

repulsiveness of Justice Sewall's physical person, his overt interest in other eligible widows, and his parsimony led to her decision. $125.00

377. WISLIZENUS, A. Denkschrift über eine Reise nach Nord-Mexico... Braunschweig: Vieweg, 1850. viii, 211 pp., 2 folding maps of Texas, long profile showing the route from Independence to Chihuahua via Santa Fe and El Paso. 8vo, contemporary boards. Very good copy of a scarce book, with an especially fine, large-scale Texas map.

First German edition, from the 1848 original published by the U.S. government as Senate Misc. Doc. 26. Howes W597. Plains & Rockies IV:159:2. Raines, p. 221. Rittenhouse 656. Wheat, Mapping the Transmississippi West 701, p. 10: "Many routes and caravan routes are shown in Texas and the author's route is displayed in detail, along with the mountains he could see on either side of his long trail," p. 143: "A large and well drawn map." In 1846 the German author set out from Independence as a private citizen to conduct a scientific exploration of the Southwest with George Englemann. Unaware that war had been declared with Mexico, he joined the large caravan of Albert Speyer headed for Chihuahua. They were imprisoned by the Mexicans at Cosihuiriachi, and later returned to Missouri with Doniphan's expedition. Goetzmann (Exploration & Empire, pp. 194-6) states that Wislizenus' report "was the most important geographical and economic survey of that almost unknown region [northern Mexico] then published." $750.00

378. WOLLSTONECRAFT, Mary. Letters Written during a Short Residence in Sweden, Norway and Denmark. London: J. Johnson, 1796. 262 pp. 8vo, contemporary tree calf, spine gilt, Greek key borders on covers, a.e.g., by Kalthoeber, with his ticket. An exceptionally fine and desirable copy. William Beckford's copy (lot 567 in the Hamilton Palace sale in 1883), with two notes in his hand ("Mary thinks a garden if not very extensive should contain more shrubs and flowers than lofty trees...& I think she is quite right") on the flyleaf.

First edition. These descriptive letters by the English humanist and radical were written to her lover, the American adventurer Gilbert Imlay. She had gone to Scandinavia on his behalf in June 1795 to manage some of his speculations, but upon her return she discovered that he was "carrying on an intrigue" (DNB) with another woman, and desired a separation. She attempted suicide by leaping
